Five THINGS you need to know as a Independent Travel Agent

Step 1. Get Your Education Handled

Joining our agency as an Independent Contractor will give you the access of receiving your certifications and education needed to get the tools need to start your travel agency

Step 2. Create your Travel Agency

1. Secure a Business Name and Web Address
2. Purchase Necessary Technology
3. Create your Travel Business
4. Set up your Home Based Office

Step 3. Spread the Word

The Sphere of Influence is a tool to build your first relationships or “book” of clients. Basically going through your contacts, emails, social connections and community connections and building a “book” of leads. By doing this, you are not only constructing your first database as a Travel Professional, but you are also building your connections to possible clients. With each contact, you should reach out to them via mail, email, text, or phone call informing them that you are now a Travel Agent and are available to assist them if they ever have the need.

Step 4. Continue your education

Becoming a Travel Advisor in 2021 is a fantastic career choice for anyone looking to find success in a fun, upbeat and awesome industry. Once you have completed your certifications, set up your business, set up your home office and began marketing your new business, the next step is to keep informed. There are wealth's of opportunities to continue your education and better your business as it grows and gains traction

Step 5. Get Involved

- By doing so, unbiased and truthful communication occurs and empowers members of the community to collaborate, learn and interact freely.
